Texas GOP launches radio ads in support of Bush nominee

7/22/2002

Republicans across the state and nation have come together to support President Bush's nomination of Texas Supreme Court Justice Priscilla Owen to the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals. The Republican Party of Texas has also started running radio ads in support of President Bush's judicial nominee. (To listen to the ad click here).

The ad makes note of the fact that Republican Attorney General and candidate for U.S. Senate John Cornyn supports Justice Owen, while Democrat Senate candidate Ron Kirk opposes the President's nominee. In fact, Kirk has previously pledged to block all "conservative jurists" should he be elected in November.

Additionally, thousands of Texans have already signed an online petition encouraging members of the United States Senate to give Justice Owen a fair hearing and confirm her nomination. (If you haven't signed the petition yet, please do so now!)

While Ron Kirk promises more Democrat obstruction and partisan politics in Washington, average Texans are crying out for senators to give Justice Owen and other fair-minded judges nominated by Bush a hearing.

Sofia Gonzalez, a petition signer from San Antonio, complains that Democrat Senators like Tom Daschle and Pat Leahy are letting qualified judicial nominees "wither on the vine", adding that "Such actions by senators Daschle and Leahy, who for political reasons refuse to comply with the Constitution and continue to play politics and abuse their power by denying the president's nominees the right to proudly serve their country, should be of a great concern to all Americans, not just Republicans and Democrats."

Westley Storey of Pflugerville said, "Let's put the country ahead of politics" until last year I have voted for Democrats and some Republicans. Now I am reviewing those Democrats very carefully."

Democrats like Ron Kirk are too blinded by partisanship to recognize an experienced, qualified judge when they see one. Below is a transcript of the radio ad.

"Texas Values"

60 second radio advertisement

NARRATOR: It's just plain wrong when politicians play politics with judicial appointments, and Ron Kirk knows it.

Texans support conservative judges who strictly and fairly interpret the law, not liberals who legislate from the bench.

Judges like Priscilla Owen, a Texan nominated by President Bush to be a federal judge. Priscilla Owen is supported by Attorney General John Cornyn and Democrat and Republican leaders across Texas.

The Dallas Morning News calls Owen a quote, "well liked, highly respected jurist." But liberal special interests in Washington are out to stop Priscilla Owen and President Bush.

And Ron Kirk is joining their liberal crusade.

Kirk's motive? Special interest money for his campaign account from the liberal elite in Washington, New York and San Francisco.

Meanwhile, Attorney General John Cornyn's standing with President Bush and Priscilla Owen.

Call Ron Kirk at 214.841.1001.

Tell him to support Texas values & not the liberal special interests.

Paid for by the Texas Republican Congressional Committee.
