Dear Robyn,

The Senate Judiciary Committee has delayed a vote on the nomination of Priscilla Owen until after the August recess. This doesn't mean that we can forget about this important nomination! It is essential that you learn more about the issues so you are ready for the vote, which may happen in early September.

On July 23, the Senate Judiciary Committee held a hearing on Owen's nomination. In a letter to Senator Patrick Leahy (D-VT), Chair of the Senate Judiciary Committee, a total of 14 progressive organizations, including Planned Parenthood, National Council of Jewish Women, People for the American Way, and the NAACP stated: "Our exhaustive and careful review of Priscilla Owen's record on the Texas Supreme Court has left us with little alternative but to oppose her confirmation because of her activist and extreme views on important civil rights, worker's rights, consumer's rights, and women's rights issues." Source: Civilrights.org <http://www.civilrights.org/library/detail.cfm?id=9821> .

Planned Parenthood is working with a larger coalition of organizations concerned with Justice Owen's nomination. We have previously sent you information on Justice Owen's record on reproductive rights. Here are some of the other issues that have been raised:

Labor: "As a Justice on the Texas Supreme Court, Owen consistently votes to dismiss suits brought by workers for job-related injuries, discrimination and unfair employment practices." Source: Alliance For Justice <http://www.independentjudiciary.org/nominees/nominee.cfm?NomineeID=21> . Additionally, the AFL-CIO states that "Owen's decisions and dissents overwhelmingly favor business and insurance interests to the detriment of working men and women." Source: AFL-CIO <http://www.aflcio.org/bushwatch> .

Discrimination and Workers' Rights: "In several recent cases, Owen has dissented from rulings by the Texas Supreme Court affecting the rights of workers, including the right to be free from discrimination." Source: Alliance For Justice <http://www.independentjudiciary.org/nominees/nominee.cfm?NomineeID=21> . Additionally, the National Women's Law Center states that "Justice Owen's record on sex discrimination and other legal issues of importance to women displays a staunch conservatism that is well outside the mainstream."

Access to Justice: Several groups have expressed concerns about her propensity to overturn jury decisions. In a joint letter signed by the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights and 13 other organizations including Planned Parenthood it is stated that "In many of her opinions, Owen seeks to override jury verdicts or diminish the role of juries, especially when juries attempt to protect the rights of working families." Source: Civilrights.org <<http://www.civilrights.org/library/detail.cfm?id=9605>> .

Environment: "Environmental groups are seriously concerned with Justice Owen's record of favoring special interests over public health and ordinary citizens. Justice Owen is only the fourth of President Bush's many judicial nominees to raise such concerns among the environmental community." Source: Earth Justice <<http://www.earthjustice.org/policy/judicial/owen.html>> .

Rights of Consumers: "Her dissenting views would have seriously impaired the rights of ordinary citizens to have access to the courts and to obtain redress for a variety of injuries..." Source: People for the American Way <<http://www.pfaw.com/issues/judiciary/owen/report/consumer.html>> .
