The President today gave an important speech on the 2 year anniversary of the first batch of nominees and the Senate obstruction that is currently taking place. A link to the proceedings is below.

<http://www.whitehouse.gov/news/releases/2003/05/20030509-4.html> Senator Frist, also today, offered his "Filibuster Reform" plan. Below is a synopsis:

Senator Frist's proposed change to Rule 22 tracks normal cloture procedure with exceptions:

- 1) Applies only to nominations.
- 2) Cloture cannot be filed until a nomination has been pending for 12 hours.
- 3) Cloture requirements decline on succeeding votes: 60, 57, 54, 51 and finally a simple majority of those present and voting. (This latter feature is based on the premise that the Constitution does not state a floor.)
- 4) A follow-up cloture motion cannot be filed until disposition of the prior cloture motion.

S. Res 85 as introduced by previously Senator Miller

- applied to all debate, not just nominations- did not provide a 12 hour wait- stopped at 51 There are 10 GOP co-sponsors and Miller. Including freshmen Cornyn and Chambliss. A previous similar proposal introduced by Lieberman and Harkin in 1995 (applied to all debate) was voted up by 19 Democrats, many of whom still serve, including POTUS wannabes Lieberman, Kerry, and Graham..
