Scope and Content

The materials in FOIA 2022-0130-F are a selective, not necessarily all inclusive, body of records responsive to the topic of the FOIA. Researchers should consult an archivist about related materials.

FOIA 2022-0130-F requested textual materials related to the “Strategy Group” from January 2001 – March 2001.

This FOIA primarily contains memoranda, reports, correspondence, agendas, briefings, lists, fact sheets, handwritten notes, printed emails, invitations, newspaper and magazine clippings, schedules, and calendars. The materials are concerned with President George W. Bush’s long-range policy initiatives, and the public’s level of support for his administration’s decisions. These include reports and briefings analyzing the results of polling and focus groups, presidential and legislative schedules for March 2001 – December 2001, scheduling proposals and their impact on public support, Strategy Group meeting summaries, voting analyses of the 2000 election, discussion of President George W. Bush's travel during his first 100 days in office, discussion of media coverage of the first 100 days, comparisons to the first 100 days of previous presidents, and highlights and accomplishments of the first 100 days. Policy areas of emphasis are energy, education, taxes, and the environment.

System of Arrangement

The materials in FOIA 2022-0130-F are a systematic body of records responsive to the topic of the FOIA. Researchers should consult an archivist about related materials.

Records responsive to this FOIA were found in these collection areas – Staff Member Office Files.

Staff Member Office Files are maintained at the folder level by staff members within their individual offices and document all levels of administration activity.

Staff Member Office Files are processed at the folder level, that is, individual documents are not selected and removed from a folder for processing. While this method maintains folder integrity, it frequently results in the incidental processing of documents that are not wholly responsive to the subject area.
